IPAN Media Release 4th May,2024:

Australian Government fails to tell the public the truth on May 4 Navy spying

- Claims by the Australian Government that the Navy was enforcing sanctions against North Korea have been heavily refuted
- Australian Navy spying on Chinese Coastal defence and military exercises occurred at the behest of the USA's Seventh Fleet
- IPAN calls for the cancellation of hostile spying activities in the South China Sea

Official claims by the Australian government that the Royal Australian Navy (RAN) was in the Yellow Sea as part of “the international effort to enforce United Nations Security Council sanctions against North Korea’[\[i\]](#) have been heavily refuted by experienced experts, according to the Independent and Peaceful Australia Network (IPAN).

Instead, it is argued that the RAN was spying on Chinese Coastal defence and military exercises at the behest of the USA Seventh Fleet, when the Chinese reacted and warned off the Australian Navy helicopter by dropping a flare, with use of flares recognised by the Federal Aviation Authority as a safe and professional method of communication.

Australia's breach of China's EEZ was dangerous and provocative — military activity is not allowed in EEZs — it is considered by affected nations as an act of aggression.

We are fortunate the Chinese did not act more sternly.

Australia keeps sailing closer, ever closer, to a 'Gulf of Tonkin incident', on behalf of our US puppeteer.

Palestine-Gaza

Pro-Palestinian rallies and marches for 32 consecutive weeks

2nd June: Tens of thousands for the 32nd consecutive week continue to rally in Hyde Park and march through the Sydney CBD in support of Palestinians and opposing Israeli genocide in Gaza. No anti-semitic chants, placards or speeches- peaceful and humanitarian.

But still the TV and newspapers fail to acknowledge the rally and march and give it publicity. Similar continuing actions in other capital cities.

Thousands of Australian Public Servants speak out against Israeli atrocities

by Paul Gregoire

“The crisis in Gaza calls for a fundamental rethink about where Australia stands,” says Dr Alison Broinowski.

One of the big news stories last Thursday was over 300 Australian public servants had signed an open letter calling on the PM and his government to end their “support of the genocide, ethnic cleansing and illegal occupation of Palestine by immediately ceasing all military exports to Israel”.

This is significant as the public is now well aware that criticising Israel’s assault on Gaza can result in termination, especially, one would consider, from government. But eight months into a livestreamed genocide, circumstances are so dire that the open letter now lists over 2,000 public servants’ names.

ANU EXPELS PRO-PALESTINE STUDENT, CONTINUES LINKS WITH ARMS MANUFACTURERS

The ANU has expelled Beatrice Tucker for comments made on ABC radio, banning the student from entering campus or continuing their studies. This comes a week after the ANU called police on the student encampment.

Students and Staff Against War ANU, a group on campus, has been circulating an open letter condemning any disciplinary action taken against Tucker, which has garnered over 500 signatures and over 50 staff signatures. Hundreds attended an NTEU rally on 16 May after the ANU sent 7 students letters requesting they leave the camp. And hundreds once again prevented police from arresting students in the camp on 27 May.

Health workers deplore latest attack on Rafah as United Nations agencies describe “hell on earth”

by Melissa Sweet (Medical Association for Prevention of War (Australia))

Senior United Nations officials have condemned Israeli air strikes that hit a camp for displaced people in Rafah, southern Gaza, killing and injuring scores of Palestinians including women and children.

The Medical Association for the Prevention of War (Australia) has today urged the Australian Government to act, saying “this latest, horrific bombardment of a camp of displaced people seeking safety cannot stand”.

Statement by MAPW

"We stand in solidarity with our health worker colleagues in Gaza. We call on our own Government to respect and uphold the law, to defend the independence of the world's courts, and to condemn and withhold all support from parties that violate court orders, international laws, human rights, and moral standards. We despair when this appears so hard to do."

440 Australians training on US nuclear subs

They will automatically be drawn into war against China if hostilities break out between the US and China- Australia cannot have an independent foreign policy says Senator David Shoebridge

"This is a core threat to Australia's sovereignty, hundreds of Australian sailors and officers can be committed to the next US war without any credible way for our own government to stop it," Greens senator David Shoebridge warns.

"Does the Albanese government seriously say we can rapidly pull over 400 Australian personnel off US attack class nuclear subs before they are sent into a conflict? The very idea is fanciful.

"This is another demonstration of how AUKUS undermines Australia's ability to have an independent foreign policy and military.

American diplomat Kurt Campbell suggests Australia's AUKUS nuclear submarines could be to defend Taiwan against China

A top US diplomat has suggested his country would expect Australia's planned nuclear-powered submarines to be used if it went to a war with China over Taiwan.

Deputy Secretary of State Kurt Campbell spoke about the AUKUS submarines during an appearance last week at the Centre for a New American Security in Washington.

Dr Campbell said the US was facing 'a number of potential areas of conflict' in the Indo-Pacific which would require the cooperation of its AUKUS allies and other regional partners.

'I think all countries, each of these countries need to underscore that this is not a jobs program, it is not a technology development program,' he said in Washington.

'Those are corollary advantages.

'This is a security partnership that is profoundly constitutional and has the potential to not only create fundamentally new realities... in the water in Asia, but also change the nature of the way each of our three countries operate together.'

Dr Campbell reportedly told European Union officials two years ago that AUKUS was about 'getting Australia off the fence - we have them locked in now for the next 40 years'.

In June last year, Dr Campbell told the Center for Strategic International Studies how Australia would be expected to deploy US-built submarines during a discussion on the strategic implications of AUKUS.

The Health of Emergency response workers and the Port Adelaide community is at Risk in a potential AUKUS Nuclear Submarine Reactor Accident.

Briefing by David Noonan, Independent Environment Campaigner, 27 April 2024.

Federal Labor AUKUS legislation to declare Osborne a "Designated Nuclear Zone" for the maintenance of US Virginia Class Nuclear-Powered Attack Subs (N-Sub), and for the later proposed build of a future UK N-Sub design, is expected to go to a Parliamentary vote by mid-yr.

However, Federal and State authorities have so far failed to conduct health impact studies and 'Emergency Response Plans' that are required for an N-Sub visit to Port Adelaide / Osborne.

Port Adelaide has never had an N-Sub visit and the SA public have been denied their 'Right to Know' the extent of health and socio-economic impacts in a potential N-Sub reactor accident.

Neutrality would keep us out of a U.S. – China war

by Bevan Ramsden

Pacific elder excoriates Australia on AUKUS panel with Bob Carr

By Dr Wanning Sun

Referring to the new treaty deal between Australia and Tuvalu Enele Sopoaga said:

'In all my years of politics I have never seen anything so brazen and disrespectful.'

“It's neo-colonialism at it's worst”

(Extract)

Sopoaga believes AUKUS shows a “contemptuous disregard for Pacific regionalism”, stating that nuclear-powered submarines could only inflame regional tensions and make the region less secure and stable.

He also couched his critique in a historical context, reminding the audience of the Pacific having been a “dumping ground” for nuclear wastes by the US, the UK and France in the past. For this reason, allowing nuclear-powered submarines to travel through the region shows a “shameful disregard for the long and tragic history that the Pacific has suffered from the detonation of nuclear weapons”.

Sopoaga views AUKUS through the lens of the future as well as the past. He referred to the Australia-Tuvalu Falepili Union, a new agreement between Australia and Tuvalu, which will create a special visa pathway for Tuvalu’s residents to escape the threat of climate change. In return, Tuvalu cannot enter into any security pact with China without Canberra’s approval.

Feds pledge $14-18 billion to bolster northern defence bases

The federal government's 2024 Integrated Investment Program has allocated $14-$18 billion over the next decade to strengthen bases in the NT, northern Queensland and northern Western Australia and contribute to enhanced collective security of the Indo-Pacific.

In Darwin for a defence summit, Defence Industry Minister Pat Conroy said “the lion’s share “of the funding would flow to the Territory.

“Nearly $400 million on the Robertson Barracks redevelopment, $1.5 billion on RAAF Base Tindal, hundreds of millions of dollars going into the United States Force Posture Initiatives training areas- they ‘re just a few examples of the billions of dollars that will go into the NT to develop these bases, which means a safer and stronger ADF and more jobs for Territorians”

MEDIA RELEASE
LABOR AGAINST WAR

Tuesday 14 May 2024

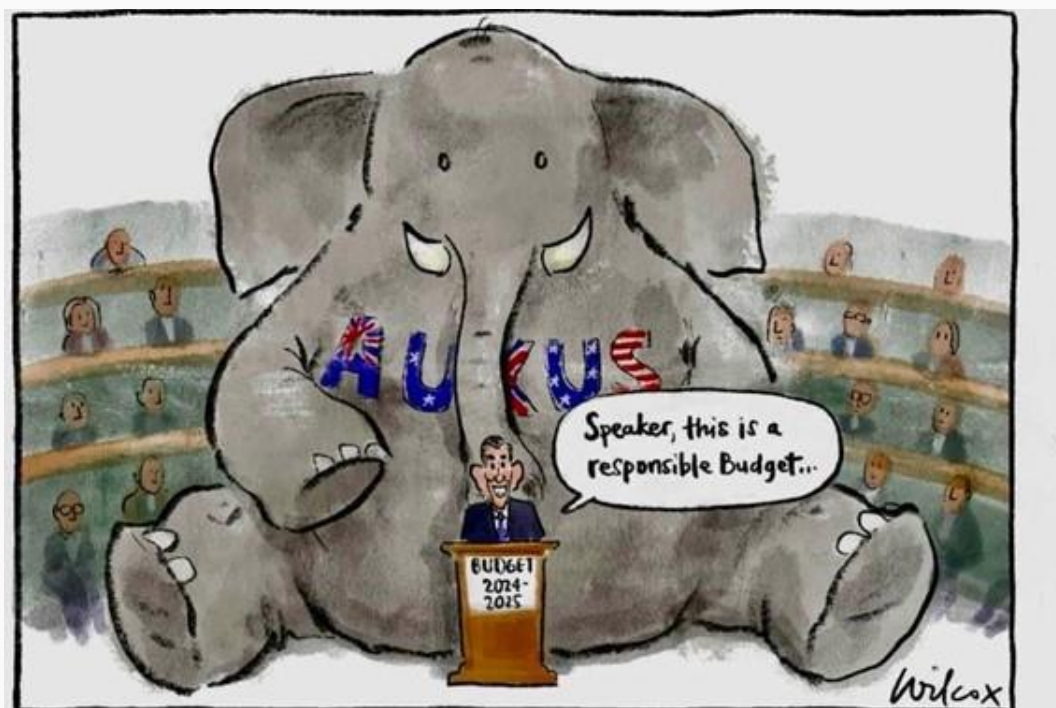

‘Come clean on AUKUS funding’

Grassroots anti-AUKUS campaign, Labor Against War, has called on the Federal Labor Government to come clean about just how much it is pouring into US and UK coffers to rebuild their ageing nuclear shipyards, both of which build nuclear-armed submarines.

Marcus Strom, national convenor of Labor Against War, said: “It’s quite telling that the budget papers don’t reveal how much of the $2.6 billion earmarked next year for AUKUS is going straight into the pockets of the US military machine to rebuild their shipyards. “It’s a travesty of democracy and transparency that we have to trawl through papers of the US Congress to find out how much of our tax dollars are going to fund the US war machine. “That’s money that could be spent here on core Labor values: universal public Medicare, public housing, public education, and the transition to a renewable energy economy.”

America is actively preparing for war with China with war games

by Will Potter

The United States military is actively preparing to go to war with China over growing fears of an invasion of Taiwan.

Marines from the US and the Philippines have been carrying out ominous war games on small islands a short distance from Taiwan, reports the Wall Street Journal.

The exercises include deploying teams of marines from Chinook helicopters, readying unarmed assault rifles, and scoping out terrain that would hypothetically be used if conflict erupted.

The developments are a disturbing glimpse into the perspective of US military leaders as the hostile nation continues to threaten to invade Taiwan. Any direct conflict between the US and China could easily spiral into World War Three, with both nations in possession of nuclear weapons that could destroy the planet.

Will the Cocos Islands become like Diego Garcia, highjacked by the US?

The 2000 residents of Diego Garcia were forcibly removed to make way for a giant US military base.

Will the same happen to the 593 Australian residents on the Cocos Islands that lies south of Sumatra in the Indian ocean? The Australian Government has committed over $600 million to the military upgrade of the run-way and support services on Cocos.

When Julia Gillard allowed US marines to be rotated/based in Darwin there was widespread speculation that Cocos was on the US shopping list and that Australia was a seller.

NATO's Pacific War Games

June 5, 2024- Ann Wright

One-third of the countries joining RIMPAC's maneuvers in the Pacific this summer are not from Asia and the Pacific, says Ann Wright. They are from Europe and are all members of NATO.

As the United States increases its military confrontation with China through new military bases on Guam and the Philippines and more land, sea and air exercises with Asia-Pacific countries, the world's largest naval war exercises will be held in the mid-Pacific from June 26 to Aug. 2 and NATO — from the other side of the world — is in the middle of it.

Twenty nine countries are participating in the 2024 Rim of the Pacific (RIMPAC) naval war practice that will bring 40 ships, three submarines, over 150 aircraft, 14 national land forces and 25,000 personnel to the island of Oahu and the waters off Hawaii.

Incredibly, one-third of the countries bringing ships, submarines and aircraft to the middle of the Pacific are not from Asia and the Pacific, but are from Europe — all members of the North ATLANTIC Treaty Organization (NATO).
